Silica mine progress

SILICA sands developer and explorer Diatreme Resources Ltd has engaged industry specialist Mineral Technologies for final test work for the Galalar silica project's feasibility study.

The testing program will use a one-tonne bulk sample obtained from an area representing the first five years of the planned mining area at Galalar, near Cooktown. This follows Diatreme's recent announcement of a 30 per cent increase in the size of the Galalar project's silica resource. A draft EIS is under way, with Diatreme aiming to receive the necessary environmental approvals and mining lease in the fourth quarter of 2021.
